PhD Council Lunch Seminar - 10 February
The PhD Council would like to invite PhD students to the next lunch seminar, given by Matthijs de Zwaan from the UB. It will be held from 12:00 - 13:00 in room HG 11A-36.
To stand on the shoulders of giants, you need to know where to find them first.

Reviewing literature for a research project or PhD can be a daunting task, and you can easily feel overwhelmed by the large (and growing) number of possibly relevant publications. In this Library seminar, I will present practical strategies for searching for literature efficiently using bibliographic databases available at the VU, discuss methods to help you keep up to date on advances in your field, and show some tools to organize your bibliography.
Lunch will be provided.
For planning purposes, please send us an empty email if you are planning to attend.
