UPCOMING EVENTS

ABRI: PhD Lunch: February 25, 2014, organized by the ABRI PhD Council
The ABRI PhD Council is organizing the next thematic lunch on 25th February. All PhD students and Junior Researchers of ABRI are invited to join. This time the topic will be “Preparing for the PhD Defense”. Ms. Barbara Zegveld from Bureau Pedel and dr. Astrid ter Wiel from M&O will provide information and tips about the planning and actual procedure of the defense. For more information, you can contact Stella Pachidi: s.pachidi@vu.nl. The PhD lunch will take place on 25th February at 11:30-13:00 in room 2A-06.

Open Meeting: March 10, 2014: Peter Hollander and Willem Verschoor
Willem Verschoor and Joep Cornelissen would like to invite you to an open meeting for all PhD candidates and their supervisors. The overall purpose of the meeting is to provide you with relevant information on the new PhD regulations that will come into force in April. In addition, part of this meeting is also reserved for a discussion on the broader theme of ethics and integrity related to PhD research. The VU Ombudsman for scientific integrity, Peter Hollander, will join us for the meeting and will set the scene for this discussion. This session will take place on Monday, March 10th from 14.00 to 16.00 in 4A-04 (main building).

NEWS

NWO Grant for Paul Jansen, Matthijs Bal and Frank Hakemulder
Paul Jansen (VU University), Matthijs Bal (formerly VU University, presently University of Bath) and Frank Hakemulder (Utrecht University) have received a 900,000 euro grant from NWO for a research project called 'Uses of Literary Narrative Fiction in Social Contexts: Changes in Self and Social Perceptions'.

The project aims to understand how narrative fiction has the ability to change people’s self and social perceptions, and research will be conducted in both the education setting (i.e., classrooms at secondary schools), as well as the workplace. Part of the project specifically aims at investigating how narrative fiction can be used in the workplace, such as in training and development programs. The grant allows the team to employ a post-doc researcher, a PhD student in Educational Science, and one PhD-student in Management, who will be employed on FEWEB. The interdisciplinary team in the research project brings together researchers from literary science, educational science, language science, and management science.
